

Residential Loan Officer:

Kate Batchelder

Kate is a Residential Loan Officer at the 63 State Street, Newburyport office. She started her career with the bank in 1984 and served in many capacities over a fifteen-year period, including Assistant Manager of the Storey Avenue branch. In 1999, she took a hiatus to work for the Triton School District during her children's years in middle and high school. Kate returned to the bank in her current role in 2007. In this position, she is able to foster new and lasting relationships with each of her customers and provide them with the necessary support and services to successfully meet their residential loan and banking needs.

Guiding customers through the entire loan process is one of Kate's primary responsibilities. Whether the customer wants to purchase a new home, refinance an existing property, or use the equity in their house for a home improvement project, Kate can help determine which product makes the most sense. A customer may consider a fixed-rate mortgage, adjustable rate mortgage, or a home equity line of credit to meet their goals. In addition, Kate works closely with the bank's mortgage processing department to ensure a smooth application and closing experience.

Dedicated to her community, Kate volunteers for several local nonprofits, including the Salvation Army, and Our Neighbors' Table in Amesbury. She has completed three 60-mile walks for breast cancer and also finds time to teach the lender portion of the Coastal Home Buyer program, a program for first-time home buyers.

She received her B.A. from the University of Lowell (now UMass Lowell) in Sociology and is a graduate of the Massachusetts School of Financial Studies.

Kate is married to Mark Batchelder, and is the proud mother of daughter, Devin and son Eric.

Loan Officer Profile:

Nancy Taylor

Nancy Taylor is one of the bank's Residential Loan Officers at our 63 State Street Newburyport office. After graduating from college, Nancy started working at the Newburyport Five Cents Savings Bank, primarily in the mortgage department. She left the bank to attend Suffolk Law School in Boston and returned after practicing law.

Nancy is committed to successfully guiding prospective and existing customers through the mortgage, equity loan, and/or mortgage refinancing process. She ensures that customers' concerns and questions are addressed in a thoughtful and professional manner.

Active in the community, Nancy is Co-founder and current President of the Triton Education Foundation, a nonprofit organization that raises money to support the Triton Regional School District. In addition, she dedicates time to the Salvation Army and is a volunteer mediator for Essex County through the Attorney General's office/Community Action. Nancy also stays active helping many local community organizations through the bank's employee volunteer program, the Spirit of Giving.

Nancy received her B.A. from SUNY, Cortland, NY with a major in psychology and a minor in business. She received her JD from Suffolk University Law School, Boston, MA. Nancy holds a Mediation Training/Certificate from the State of Massachusetts/North Essex County.

Nancy lives in Newbury with her husband, Worthen (Brownie) Taylor, and two sons, Zachary and Benjamin.
